

10 reasons sacred city might not be the right church for you

1. You're not committed to radically following after Jesus.
2. You think church is a place you "go to" and like to keep it separate from your "real life."
3. You think that church is a safe haven for the building up of believers and not a rescue mission for sin-sick sinners.
4. You can't agree with historical orthodox theology (i.e. you are unable to be non-divisive).
5. You think that leadership is perfect and expect them to never make mistakes.
6. You are interested in outreach "events" and "programs" instead of living your whole life with an outward focus and making disciples.
7. You're looking for the "best" preaching/music you can find so that you can be most effectively "fed."
8. You don't like the messiness of real relationships.
9. You get tired of hearing about the gospel, faith, and repentance.
10. You think church is supposed to be about you and not the glory of God.
